From Amer Assn for Clinical Chemistry : Automated Integration of Clinical Laboratories: A Reference before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Automated Integration of Clinical Laboratories: A Reference:

Allegheny Univ., Philadelphia, PA. Offers comprehensive coverage of lab macro-automation: i.e., automation equipment that combines and coordinates specimen preparation, storage, and movement between analytic workstations. Shows how this new system promises to reduce both marginal labor expenses and the possibility of human error. Halftone illustrations. Softcover.
