The book required for my class was not beneficial, so I felt I needed another option. This book was great. It went into detail the theories and aspects of counseling, and it also gives examples. It takes frequent questions or issues that you will likely face as an audiologist and gives you tips for how to deal with it.

Counseling in Audiologic Practice is designed to guide the practicing audiologist or the audiology student in the mastery of counseling skills to meet the needs of patients and families suffering from hearing loss. The text examines the range of emotions experienced by parents following the diagnosis of pediatric hearing loss as well as the less recognized emotional impact accompanying adult hearing loss. Discussion based upon counseling theory reveals the variety of dynamics within audiologists' interactions with patients to help clinicians more completely address the personal adjustment/support counseling needs of individuals, families, and groups as well as those approaching audiologic services from within the context of a culturally divergent background
