Judy Lawrence, Pauline Douglas, Joan Gandy : Dietetic and Nutrition Case Studies before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Dietetic and Nutrition Case Studies:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful.) I highly recommend this very easy to read bookBy Avid ReaderI bought this book to stay current on the subject as I am enrolled in a Dietetics program. Although this book is from the UK, it is still relevant, current and tackles all of the problems we face in American society. I was pleasantly surprised that the case studies cover many diverse populations (people with learning disabilities, gay couples, various ethnic backgrounds, etc...)I highly recommend this very easy to read book.

The ideal companion resource to 'Manual of Dietetic Practice', this book takes a problem-based learning approach to dietetics and nutrition with cases written and peer reviewed by registered dietitians, drawing on their own experiences and specialist knowledge. Each case study follows the Process for Nutrition and Dietetic Practice published by the British Dietetic Association in 2012. Includes case studies in public health, an increasingly important area of practice.

From the Back Cover: Dietetic and Nutrition Case Studies takes a problem-based learning approach to the subject of dietetics and nutrition. It has been written to complement the internationally successful Manual of Dietetic Practice, with case studies cross-referenced accordingly. All the cases are written and peer reviewed by registered dietitians, drawing on their own experiences and specialist knowledge. Each case study follows the Process for Nutrition and Dietetic Practice published by the British Dietetic Association in 2012. In addition the Nutrition Care Process Terminology, formally known as International Dietetics and Nutrition Terminology, is used throughout the case studies, making the book globally relevant. Dietetic and Nutrition Case Studies is an invaluable resource for lecturers, students, as well as qualified dietitians and nutritionists as part of continuing professional development.
