The International Agency for Research on Cancer : Man-Made Vitreous Fibres (IARC Monographs on the Evaluation of the Carcinogenic Risks to Humans) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Man-Made Vitreous Fibres (IARC Monographs on the Evaluation of the Carcinogenic Risks to Humans):

Reports the conclusions of a scientific working group of 19 experts from 11 countries convened by the Monographs Programme of the International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC) on the re-evaluation of the carcinogenic risk of airborne man-made vitreous fibres.

About the AuthorThe International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC) is part of the World Health Organization. IARC's mission is to coordinate and conduct research on the causes of human cancer, the mechanisms of carcinogenesis, and to develop scientific strategies for cancer control. The Agency is involved in both epidemiological and laboratory research and disseminates scientific information through publications, meetings, courses, and fellowships.
